

Master Vasilis Alexandris, started Taekwon-Do in 1972, taught by Stepanos Gaidartzakis (9th Dan) and George Stylianides (9 Dan). In 1975 he got his black belt (1st Dan), examined by the Korean teacher Park San Jae (7th Dan) in Rome. That same year opened a school with his brother Alexander Alexandris, the fourth club Taekwon-do in Greece (the first was Stamatis in Athens in 1968, the second one was Stefanos Gaidartzakis & Georgios Stylianidis in Thessaloniki in 1971 and the third one was Constantine Chrissogelos in Thessaloniki) . In 1978 he got his 2nd Dan, under an examination by a committee of Korean teachers, led by Master Kim Kwan Il and served as chief trainer Taekwon-Do School in Parachute camp in Aspropyrgos (Athens) (commando forces). In 1980 he participated in Pan-European games in England, Crystal Palace, as leader of the Greek team and held the third position in battle, third position in forms and second position in the team game. The same year, at the international tournament in Rijeka, was ranked first in team battles and accomplished to be the best athlete of the tournament. In 1981 he accepted an official invitation from the Grandmaster Kwon Jae Hwa (Father of European Taekwon-Do) in Munich, Germany, for a weekly seminar, where he was awarded the 3rd Dan at the end of the seminar. In 1982 he participated in the Pan-European games, in Naples, Italy, as leader, where he ranked first in forms (tul). In 1983, he organized the first festival of Taekwon-Do in Thessaloniki, Greece, with an official guest the Grandmaster Kwon Jae Hwa. In 1985 he got his 4th Dan by Grandmaster Kwon Jae Hwa. That same year he published along with his brother the martial arts magazine titled "Super Karate". That year he organized the first festival of martial arts, involving trainers C. Mallios, S. Vellios, C. Kosmidis, L. Katsouris, Stephen A., C. Kyriakides, J. Albanis, Ch. Kazantzidis, C. Liakopoulos, G. Sfetas. Also, he organized along with G. Mallios, C. and C. Kosmidis Sfeta, the first Open Championship Semi Contact, with more than 450 athletes. From 1987 to 1992 he participated with his team at Pan-European and World Open tournament held in Europe. In 1988 he was the leader and spokesman of the Greek group in the Pan-European Championship Semi Contact - Kick Boxing WAKO in Warsaw, Poland, and also the referee of Semi Contact WAKO. In 1992 he attended a 30 days seminar with Gen Choi Hong Hi (who awarded him the 5th Dan) and university professors for the degree of trainer of the General Secretariat of Sports. In 1993 he was coaching the National Team Taekwon-Do Greece. In 1994 he was appointed as a coach to